February 2008	Child Forensic Interview Recording Equipment	The Hawaii CJC's forensic recording equipment was approximately 20 years old. The VHS format was outdated and not functioning properly. Picture and sound quality of the taped child interviews were not adequate. The CJC program was awarded a grant from the American Bar Association to replace the equipment at its 5 centers. This funding along with CJG's, changed the equipment to a digital recording format as of March 2008. Since the new equipment was installed at the Oahu CJC on March 10, 2008, approximately 157 children have been interviewed thru June 30, 2008. Most of the allegations were of sexual abuse. There were
